

The LSAT® Exam: All You Need to Know

What It Really Is

The Law School Admissions Test (LSAT), is a multiple-choice, computer-based, remote-proctored standardized exam that is often required to apply to and be accepted into law schools in the United States and Canada.

It tests your ability to read strategically, analyze arguments, understand formal logic, and make deductions. It is a test of skill, not content, which makes it approachable for students from all backgrounds and majors.

Test Structure

There are four 35-minute sections on the LSAT, made up of 3 section types, and they may appear in any order on test day.

Reading Comprehension

1 section, ~27 questions

Logical Reasoning

1 section, ~25 questions

Analytical Reasoning (Logic Games)

1 section - ~23 questions

Experimental or Research

Unscored. Will be another section of a standard section type or a research section made up of new analytical reasoning questions for potential future use.

LSAT Writing

This is done online after test day and is submitted to law schools as part of your application.

Total time: approx. 2.5 hours

How the LSAT Is Scored

The test is scored on a 120–180 scale and the average score is around 151. Your scaled score is determined based on the raw number of questions you got correct.

- ELITE LSAT SCORES: TOP 2% OF ALL TEST-TAKERS
SCALED SCORE: 170–180
These scores are necessary for those applying to the top law schools in the country (T-14).
- TOP LSAT SCORES: TOP 10% OF ALL TEST-TAKERS
SCALED SCORE: 164–169
These scores are necessary to earn admission into Tier 1 law schools.
- COMPETITIVE LSAT SCORES: TOP 25% OF ALL TEST-TAKERS
SCALED SCORE: 159–163
- GOOD ENOUGH LSAT SCORES
SCALED SCORE: 152–158
These scores put you ahead of the pack (50%+), but won't be as advantageous when applying to highly competitive programs.
- BELOW-AVERAGE LSAT SCORES
SCALED SCORE: 151 or below
